Self Discovery Assessment

Instructions:

There are four parts to the Self Discovery Assessment. In each part, you will be asked to read brief descriptions of two people and decide which person sounds more like you. These are only brief descriptions, so neither one will sound exactly like you. After you've decided, answer the questions and move on to the next part.

Please keep in mind, there are no right or wrong, better or worse answers. Just try to answer each question as honestly and objectively as you can - based on which person you are more like in your everyday life, not who you may wish you were, or think you should be like!

Description 1

Jake has lots of friends whom he likes to spend time with and he usually enjoys meeting new people. He likes to talk on the phone and often tries to get his friends together to party or go to the movies. Just thinking about getting something going gets Jake pretty pumped up.

Eric's a pretty private person. He has very close friends he's known for years. He likes to do things with them but he also enjoys spending time alone - working on projects, reading, or just relaxing. When it comes to social situations — especially new ones - Eric often prefers to hang back and observe awhile before getting involved.

Compare Colleges

The averages below are for students from your high school that have been accepted to that particular college. School averages are displayed in green when your number is higher and in red when your number is lower. Your PSAT score, if available, has been converted to the equivalent SAT score and compared to the average single SAT score of an accepted student. Your PLAN score can also serve as a direct estimate of your ACT score and can be compared to the average ACT score of an accepted student. The column labeled "Accept" shows the number of students accepted out of the number of students that applied.

The Fiske Guide Profile for University of Maryland, College Park

The name says Maryland, but the location says Washington, D.C. Students in College Park can jump on the Metro just as they do at Georgetown or American. Maryland is nothing if not big, and savvy students will look to programs such as the honors program and living/learning communities for some personal attention. For good luck on exams, University of Maryland students rub the nose of Testudo, the school's terrapin mascot. But even without touching the revered statue, most students here feel lucky to be at a school with so many courses, such a diverse student body, and state-of-the-art research

Welcome, Helen Verzaro!

Dear Student,

Check here for news bulletins every time you sign in.

I am pleased to introduce Family Connection from Naviance, a Web-based service designed especially for students and parents. Family Connection is a comprehensive website that you can use to help in making decisions about courses, colleges, and careers. Family Connection is linked with Counselor's Office, a service that we use in our office to track and analyze data about college and career plans, so it provides up-to-date information that's specific to our school.

This is the screen that you will use to navigate through the program. Please update "My Profile" to ensure accurate information.
